The trip to Perth was one of the most unforgettable experiences in my life. I have seen and learnt many things in the trip. Before the trip, we had to do some preparations. We had to find different information about Australia such as weather, demographics, culture, history as well as famous sports. I had learned a great deal in the process.

During the trip, my stay with the host family brought me a whole new understanding of western culture. My host family comes from another culture and I had to learn to get along with them. I was more aware that I had to be polite, generous and to worry less. Not to mention that I had different opportunities to communicate in English. Even though we are from different backgrounds, we could still understand each other. It was indeed a wonderful experience.

Apart from my stay with the host family, we had other exciting experiences and met other people too. We were taught by 2 enthusiastic native English teachers in the renowned Murdoch University, had a farm tour in the Caversham Wildlife Park, witnessed the process of gold refining in the Mint Factory, met an aboriginal who taught us how to use the boomerang ...etc. All the people were very kind. I could still remember there was a time when I took a bus, the driver greeted every passenger. I could feel that the locals are very passionate about life and friendly. All these events have changed me a little. I have now become a more caring and enthusiastic person. Also, I am now more eager to learn and use English.
