

This is really an unforgettable 9-day trip of Dubai.

During the days in Dubai, I learnt a lot of skills. Not only the skills of dancing or making a robot, but also how to cooperate and communicate with others. It is the most important skill for the society nowadays.

I still remember the day I left Hong Kong. I was trying to control myself because I felt really nervous and excited. When we got on the plane, I said “Good Bye, Hong Kong.” This was the time to start my exciting trip in Dubai.

When we arrived at Dubai, I was very exhausted. The next day, my exploration started. Firstly, we went to the Atlantis hotel. It was awfully wonderful. It was really vast and there was an aquarium inside the hotel. We then went to an ice-cream store called “Cold Stone”. It was interesting because the staff would prepare the ice-cream like performing a show. They threw the ice-cream to one another, and also, the ice-cream was delicious.

The next day, we went to the Dubai Mall which is the biggest shopping mall in the world. We walked for around two hours but only covered a small part of the mall. I heard that there was a roller coaster inside the mall from other student. I was Shocked! Moreover, we went to the Burj Khalifa, the tallest building in the world. It is really tall that I could not even capture the whole building by my camera. Disappointedly, we could not go inside the tower and looked the whole view of Dubai.

My memorable experience in this trip was in the workshop. I participated in a workshop called “Robotic System Design”. We were taught to design a robotic forklift or a guiding system. I chose the forklift and I wanted to make it work automatically. I worked with a partner who came from Taiwan. He participated in the World Robot competition. He taught me how to write a computer program for an auto forklift. We put much effort in designing the robot for two days. It was really hard for me but I found it interesting. Although we could not win any prize at last, I enjoyed this workshop very much. And I met lots of new friends in this workshop.

On the last day, when we arrived at the Dubai Airport, I realized that I did not want to go back to Hong Kong. I got lot of friends, lot of knowledge in Dubai. I cried in my heart.

This was an unforgettable trip. This trip helped me grow up, to be creative and mature. I will never forget this trip. And now, I am still missing Dubai.
